September 2013, the DFE amended the 2006 attendance regulations, removing references to family holidays and extended leave as well as the statutory threshold of ten school days. The amendments make clear that Headteachers may not grant any leave of absence during term time, unless there are exceptional circumstances. Headteachers should determine the number of school days the child can be away if leave is granted. We understand that there may be exceptional circumstances which may necessitate a longer absence for an agreed period, but this is discretionary. Any requests for leave should be made in writing so they can be considered and any unauthorised leave take could result in an Educational Penalty Notice being issued by the Local Authority.
